Joan McQuinn

Living treasure Joan McQuinn was 78 on May 20th. She and her great mate, husband Bernie, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on May 18th. In fact, Bernie himself will be 86 on August 8th. Very impressive numbers indeed which lie beneath the great contribution the McQuinns have made to Cobden over many years.

Here, Joan reflects on her own experiences as a Cobden resident . . .

“COBDEN – A CARING COMMUNITY”

This catchphrase was chosen many years ago when the Cobden Technical School held a competition and lots of ideas were put forward. On reflection, what an appropriate choice was made!

While I had heard of Cobden before, I first came here to visit when I was 18. What a pretty place it was with elm trees lining the main street each side to give shade for cars and horses tied up to rails while the farmers dropped in for a pot (or two)!

I only have one sister, Val (Wiggins), and she was born in Camperdown. I was born in Terang and we have never lived more than a couple of kilometres apart. She was better at sport than me but I loved cooking and spent my Saturdays being taught by my Nanna to bake biscuits, scones, cakes etc which I still enjoy doing today, although I have slowed down a lot.

We had no car, no telephone and not much money but were always happy with our life in our Cobden. Having great neighbours was a wonderful help and, as we started to build our own little four-roomed home, we could always rely on the youngest two boys next door coming to visit after tea on Sunday night just when we wanted to have a little cuddle.

As our family arrived I became very involved in the community. Down to the baby health centre where (Mrs) Joey Bown assured me I had Cobden's most beautiful baby (she told all the new mothers that and, of course, we all believed her). The health centre was in the back of the court house, the site of the present police station. It was so damp there was fungus growing on the walls.

Joey wanted to send away some cheques and asked me to sign them and be her treasurer and that was my first position in the Cobden community. We formed a committee – Frances Crawford was president, Lynette Blake secretary, Esther Stepnell assistant and away we went, raising money for our new health centre.

We raised a lot of money baking for street stalls and selling countless raffle tickets. When we got a few thousand dollars behind us, we approached the Shire which approved the plans as long as we considered incorporating a kindergarten in the building. It was a lot of work but a lot of fun and so much was achieved for the young people of our town.

The first kinder was in the Presbyterian Church Sunday School Hall on the corner where Nell Pekin now lives. The children were only able to go on alternate days – two or three days a week. There was a piano in the hall and the kids loved doing the hokey pokey.

Cobden has always had many willing volunteers who have been the back-stops in our community sports clubs, churches and the like.

We always followed Cobden in the football where my hubby played for 17 years, starting at age 15. One day he got a thump in the back and out flew what he thought was his chewy. Finding later it was one of his second front teeth broken off up near the stump.

Down to a sympathetic Dr Alf Barrett (also an

“Great man of medicine might struggle with a pencil-sharpener but can take out your appendix!”

NEWSFLASH

While 7 year-old Jim Reid was chopping up a worm in his backyard in Edinburgh Scotland, he told his bemused older brother he was going to be a doctor.

Almost inexplicably, he went ahead and studied law for a year but the call of medicine was strong and he graduated from St Andrews University with his MB ChB (Bachelor of Medicine, Bachelor of Surgery) and his Diploma of Anaesthetics (London) in 1961.

Over the next few years, Dr Reid also gained more experience and qualifications in fields like forensic medicine. He became an all-rounder with skills and knowledge invaluable wherever he practised.

His parents died before he was 15 so he grew up making his decisions relatively independently. He lived with his aunt in very comfortable circumstances – with a cook and other staff – which probably goes a long way to explaining why he still can't prepare food “to save himself”.

Jim smiles as he remembers how he would berate the cook for boiling the vitamin c out of the vegetables. “I must have been a pain at times,” he said.

After working in several hospitals in Scotland and the Isle of Man, he won an essay-writing competition – “The ideal drug for renal conditions.” The prize was a trip to London where Jim stayed in a very expensive hotel and met a doctor from the Department of Health who suggested he consider taking a position in West Cameroon, West Africa.

In 1964, Fredrick James Reid, Baron of Wranghame (a title inherited from a distant relative), and his wife Yvonne and first daughter Ruth subsequently set off for West Cameroon to be the medical officer in charge of Tiko Hospital and area medical officer.

This quiet young Scot who describes himself as being an “abnormal” child because he never climbed a tree, never used a swing, loved reading and played (but never learnt) the piano was on his way around the world.

A two-year stint at West Cameroon where second daughter Kate was born was followed by three years on the Channel Islands as the anaesthetic registrar before the Reids went “down under” to settle firstly at Murrayville in northwest Victoria, Australia.

Jim said they came to Australia to visit – they had no real intention of staying – but they decided it was a fine place to bring up a family – and that's what they did!

In 1970, after three years as visiting medical officer and anaesthetist in the Murrayville, Pinaroo and Lameroo area and the arrival of third daughter Janet, the family headed for Cobden where they embraced the climate – they could enjoy “a proper winter.” You don't hear that very often!

The other reason for Dr Reid coming to Cobden was his preference for the private health system, and Cobden Bush Nursing Health Hospital fitted the bill perfectly.

Forty-two years later, he looks back with a great deal of pride and satisfaction. “Many of my patients have become friends,” he said. “I have spent so many years sharing the joys and disappointments of the Cobden community, but I am always warmed afresh by their friendship and openness.”

Jim who was a member of the local hospital/health services board for 30 years marvels at the changes in health care. “No doubt, medicine is doing some very clever things with body parts, even brains, these days. Generally, I am seeing many more older people and slightly more children – and the issues are far more complex than previously,” he said.

“I remember when our acute beds at Cobden cost $25 a day. Did you know I delivered the last baby before the acute section closed . . . and I gave the last general anaesthetic?”

“We used to have one receptionist here at the medical centre for three doctors, now we have two full-time/part-time receptionists, three ardent football supporter) to pull it out. Anytime I had to visit Dr Alf, he always asked "How's my friend No 10?"

Our family always had a close association with the scout and guide movement, as leaders (one son for 35 years) and I was district commissioner for eight years and made many friends.

It was a happy and fun time driving through the city to a conference - we had to laugh as the cars were all making way for us. With our hats on we must have looked like a carload of lady cops. Lots of happy guide days memories!

I felt it was a real responsibility doing enrolments for many young girls who made their promise so sincerely - was I adequate enough for such a special job? I tried, with great help from a great husband. Our motto - "Good, Better, Best, never let it rest till your Good is Better and your Better is your Best."

One great memory with our neighbours and friends was Guy Fawkes night - November 5th every year as the heap grew higher and the rubbish was stacked up. At last it was dark enough to light up a post or two to put the catherine pin wheels on and, with penny bungers and jumping jacks making everyone hop around, it was great fun!

Another way we raised a lot of money for the Technical School was a series of about eight talent quests. Ten acts performed each Friday night. After each item, tins with slits cut in the lids were passed around. Ten cents a vote with the winners from each night progressing to the final. It got very competitive with lots of dads saying their boy or girl was best.

The original meaning of talent quest was forgotten to an extent, and too much money was being put in to try to rig the count. We eventually made over $2000 for the school so, although deemed a success, it was also a little disappointing in another way. Like, today, money spoiling sporting spirit.

What a pretty town Cobden remains - with great input by many of our older residents. The walking track around the lake, now with all the new jetties.

The Cobden mini railway, a popular tourist attraction bringing many outsiders to visit Cobden, also a great venue for birthday parties and end-of-year break-ups.

What is called "Wiggins dream" is now somewhat of a tie for a lot of the older drivers but we always welcome a few younger chaps starting to show interest. It is such a treasure for our town.

The first working bees of about five men were catered for every time with home-made scones and pikelets, and Val and I did all the scones for the canteen until a couple of years ago. We now get them from the Cobden Bakery and just add the jam and cream and, believe me, they are still well worth sampling!

Thanks for the opportunity to share some memories of a great town that I've always loved and always will!!

computers, three telephones and piles and piles of paper for just one doctor!

"It's bureaucracy gone mad," he said, "Nursing staff spend much of their time at computers filling out forms . . . watch out farmers, it will get even worse for you too."

Dr Reid's contribution to the area has been well-acknowledged by the community - in 2008, he was awarded life membership of Cobden District Health Services, and by his peers - the Rural Workforce Agency Victoria (RWAV) recognised him at its annual Victorian Rural Doctors' Awards last year.

Although he is not a real football follower, Jim does lean towards St Kilda. "You know, I've only been to one football match in my life - at the MCG when I was invited to a corporate box - but I'm a great believer in sport," he said. "I am donating an annual trophy to a young lawn bowler."

In his early days he was a successful cross-country runner but he confessed the only reason he ran quickly over a long distance in the winter was to warm up his slender body and get back inside the bus.

Jim has been blessed with good health. He does not have headaches and does not suffer from stress. "I have never lost my temper. I guess I haven't got the voice to yell and scream. That was one of the reasons I decided not to be a lawyer." He admitted he has trouble with people's names but his memory is still very good. "I tell my office staff the MB after my name stands for 'memory bank.'"

Dr Reid speaks with great pride about his family. He met wife Yvonne in Edinburgh when he was at St Andrews University and she worked in insurance. "She is a great embroiderer - her work is on the walls of the medical centre - while I can't even sharpen a pencil."

Daughter Ruth has been a Corangamite Shire mayor and remains a councillor, daughter Kate is a senior lawyer in Melbourne and daughter Janet is a part-time general practitioner at Point Lonsdale. Jim also spoke fondly of his older brother George who died in England last year. Although he left school early to begin a printing career, George was a canny investor and died a very wealthy man.

Fluent in French, an avid reader, a writer of the occasional letter to the editor, an exceptional contributor to the health and well-being of many international, Australian and Cobden and district families over a long period of time . . . take a bow, Dr James Reid. Thanks for the many years of care, and all those ripping stories!

COBDEN CIVIC HALL - A MAJOR COMMUNITY ASSET

The Cobden Civic Hall complex is managed by a committee responsible to the Corangamite Shire for its operation and maintenance.

The committee is subject to appointment at an annual general meeting; however the present committee has been in place since 2001. It currently comprises Glenice Coad, Kevin Johnston, Frank Martin and Lew Matthews.

The next AGM is due to be held in August this year, and the committee encourages members of the community to nominate for membership to assist in the running and improvement of the hall complex. The key qualification for members is that they are keen to see the hall develop and be as user-friendly as possible.

The Cobden Civic Hall complex comprises:

- The main hall (which seats 300 people) has a fully equipped stage
- The supper room adjacent to the main hall seats around 75 people
- The main fully-equipped commercial kitchen has direct access to the main hall and supper room
- The Heytesbury Room is a meeting room capable of seating 40 at tables or up to 60 auditorium style
- The President's Room offers a more intimate meeting venue for up to 20 people
- A kitchenette services the meeting rooms for tea and coffee and light food

The committee of management offers the hall and associated facilities at reasonable costs to hirers for public and private functions. To do this, it needs to set hire rates based on costs for electricity, gas and water supply as well as cleaning and upkeep.

Since the committee was formed in 2001, some of the key improvements have been:

- Setting up meeting venues in the Heytesbury and President's Rooms with carpet, furniture and repainting
- New blinds and blackout curtains installed in the meeting rooms
- Permanent projector screen in the Heytesbury Room
- New sound system installed in main hall
- Re-sanding and re-sealing of the floors in the main hall and supper room
- Replacement of the chairs for the main hall
- Construction of accessible toilet adjacent to the main foyer
- Main hall interior repainted and acoustic panels installed
- Kitchen renovated with new cabinets, stove and dishwasher
- New blackout blinds in main hall
- Additional lighting bars installed in main hall and on stage

- Complete renovation of stage - repainted, new permanently-installed data projector and screens, and new side and rear curtains

Looking ahead, the committee is looking to carry out the following new works:

- lights on the stage
- roofing for the hall
- walkway between kitchen and Heytesbury Room to avoid traffic through the supper room
- tables for the main hall

The Cobden Civic Hall complex exists for the community to utilise for its activities. It is in regular use by service clubs, Progressing Cobden and other users such as the Orchid Club for its annual show, and it is also used by private users for dance classes and other activities. Major functions are held each year by the football netball club. The annual Cobden Rotary/Community Bank Business Awards are held each November. Bookings are handled conveniently in town.

{Chicks With Attitude} COBDEN CWA . . . much more than scones and sewing

Cobden's Country Women's Association branch was formed 75 years ago. Our aim is to improve conditions in the country especially as they affect health, welfare and education of women and children.

We have supported community appeals throughout all those 75 years - schools, our hospital, scouts, palliative care, our airstrip and our pool to name a few.

Statewide, we have raised money for floods, fires, street kids, care and pamper packs for both men and women after disasters or for palliative care. The Government gave CWA the task of distributing money raised by the public for disaster relief. We also provide a scholarship fund for disadvantaged children.

CWA began in Victoria in 1928 when Lady Somers called an open conference at Government House. Lady Mitchell moved to form a Country Women's Association and Mrs Ian Black of Terang seconded the motion, so CWA was born.

In Cobden we have 21 very active members with Val Maynard president, Dawn Robertson secretary and our own Judy Morgan is the president of the South Western Group to which we, as a local club, belong.

Enid Smith and Doreen Sullivan have been members for over 60 years beginning with the younger-set days. Our members are a talented group with skills in cooking and handcrafts, and have been successful in both local and state exhibitions

Delegates go to the state conference each year when over 800 women attend and many and varied resolutions are discussed and voted on.

CWA has a seat on many committees, both state and federal, ensuring that a voice on women's issues is heard. This year's conference will be at Swan Hill, as it alternates between Melbourne and country centres.

It is our 75th birthday this year. When we reached 70, we held a big party inviting representatives of all the community service clubs.

Looking Back:

- Concerts at the Coorimungle Prison Camp
- Beginning the Cobden Kindergarten group
- Baby showers: Profit-Three pounds, ten shillings
- Teaching children to knit at school friendship teas

Today:

We cater for senior citizens, make trauma dolls, sew for palliative care, knit for premature babies, make pamper packs and give support for overseas relief. We always have lots of social time, and put on items for social days, have trips and speakers, and study a different overseas country each year.

Membership is open to all, and our meetings are held at the Uniting Church meeting room at 1pm on the first Monday of each month. Please come and join us for fun, fellowship and helping the community. Women working together with wide interests - for large ends!

Thank you

Members of the Cobden Country Women's Association Inc would like to express their thanks to all those who help to make Cobden a caring community.

We appreciate your efforts, volunteering your time, and giving a helping hand.

It all makes Cobden such a good place to live.

ELINGAMITE-GLENFYNE FIRE BRIGADE 50 year service medal awarded

Breaking away from the Cobden Fire Brigade in 1947, the communities of Elingamite and Glenfyne came together and formed the Elingamite-Glenfyne Fire Brigade. With two tanks, pumps and milk cans for water carting, the brigade members were equipped for the first fire when it occurred four years later in 1951.

During its 64 years of operation, the Elingamite-Glenfyne Brigade has attended many fires. In the 1983 fire season, the brigade had several turnouts, travelling 3017.52km. On Ash Wednesday the truck travelled 1265km. As well as attending fires, the brigade also attends vehicle accidents which are becoming increasingly common as the years pass.

April 2011 saw the celebration of the opening of the brigade's new station, and the presentation of service medals to a number of its long serving members in recognition of their hard work and dedication to the brigade. Individual member service to the brigade spans from "new members" to the longest standing member Geoff Anson who was awarded for his 50 years of service. Geoff, his wife Joan and their son Peter, have racked up an amazing 110 years between them to the CFA.

The brigade's minutes show that there was some discussion at a meeting during 1978 about women being accepted into the brigade. In its lifetime the brigade has had a handful of women members, the number being boosted by three more female members joining during October 2011. As well as these three women, another three male members joined the brigade, bringing the current member number to 33.

The newest members consist of male and females ranging in age from 17 to 50, their occupations including students, dairyfarmers and a teacher. This diversity showing that there is no limit on age, gender or occupation. To be involved in your local CFA, you need interest, enthusiasm and the willingness to learn and develop new skills along with the commitment to give back to your community.

"WHO AM I?"

When were you born? 1935.

Which schools have you attended? Naroghid State School.

Your favourite subject at school? Maths.

Your AFL team? Anyone but Collingwood!

How do you relax? Going fishing.

How many children do you have? Seven children, 18 grandchildren.

Your favourite television show? Test cricket when it's available.

The best thing about your work? Now that I am retired - I can go fishing whenever I want and not have to worry about work.

Who provided the best piece of advice you have ever received? What was it?

Archie Finlayson. "You never do what I do, you do what I say."

Current clubs or organisations? Cobden Angling Club, Boggy Creek Angling Club.

Best book you've ever read? I'm not really a big reader!

Your worst habit? I have a sweet tooth!

Cobden's best feature? It's a friendly town.

Your proudest achievement so far? Raising our family.

The name of this Cobden identity will be revealed in the June edition of Connecting Cobden.

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH-OUT!

Progressing Cobden Inc A0033175Y

Neighbourhood Watch did have a strong presence in Cobden. But no longer!

Well, Progressing Cobden would like to re-establish an active Neighbourhood Watch group in the town.

The community-based crime prevention program aims to improve the quality of life within a neighbourhood by minimising preventable crime and promoting closer community ties.

Sadly, we listened intently at a recent PC meeting while a theft victim talked about his frustration. He told us what he had lost – this was the second time in 18 months he had been robbed of valuable equipment – and what his neighbour had lost over the same weekend.

He also knew of tradespeople in the town who had tools taken from their vehicles.

About 12 months ago, a former member of the defunct Cobden Neighbourhood Watch handed over the group's bank account to Progressing Cobden. About $1100 now sits in a fund waiting to be put to the best use so that Cobden people don't have to endure the angst of being victims of crime.

Senior Constable Graeme Fuller attended one of our meetings at the time, and appealed through the columns of the Cobden Timboon Coast Times to find people interested in re-launching Neighbourhood Watch in the town. The appeal fell on deaf ears.

Now, we need to get more serious, more determined to look after one another and our property.

Progressing Cobden will soon be calling a meeting of concerned citizens prepared to sit down and talk about how we can effectively minimise the incidence of crime in our town. Please watch out for the date, time and venue – it will be a meeting that we should all attend.

No, Cobden is nowhere near crisis point. We remain a relatively safe town with many, many caring people who look out for others instinctively. Still, the odd story about equipment being stolen should prompt us to invest in setting up a formal Neighbourhood Watch program to make us feel even more secure for years to come.

If you have any thoughts in the lead-up to the planned meeting, please contact Cobden police.

April's "Who Am I?"

Andrew McConachy attended Barongarook Primary School and Colac Technical School. His favourite AFL team is Geelong and he likes to relax by sleeping.

Andrew's proudest achievement so far is his marriage (to Karen) and he has two sons aged 14 and 13 (Hamish and Angus).

He belongs to Cobden squash and tennis clubs and finds the best thing about his work is meeting people.

SCOUTING GROUP LEADS THE WAY

Cobden's scouting group continues to play a major role in coordinating the district's observance of Anzac Day. We thank the venturers, scouts, cubs and joeys for their display of leadership, a wonderful contribution to our community.

MORE MEMORIES OF COBDEN PRIMARY SCHOOL

- Annual sports' day when all the rural schools came in their colours and gathered at the football ground. They were the days. Maypole dancing was another highlight. Great friendships started from school. Knitting scarves, socks and mittens for soldiers at war. Marie (Bourke) Osborne.
- Lining up on Monday morning under the flag pole, singing "God Save the King" and Jack Hose playing the school drum. I wonder where that drum is today? Practising for the school concerts and taking part in the maypole dance. It was good fun to watch the senior girls dancing the old time dances in the shelter sheds at lunch time. All good memories. Enid (Wilson) Smith.
- Going to school in winter when the puddles were covered in light ice. We would step in the puddles to break the layer of ice and naturally we went to school with wet socks, shoes and pants. Milk was delivered in glass bottles free of charge during morning playtime, and I always enjoyed this treat, and even more so when "Chocolate Quik" flavouring was introduced into the market. In Preps at my time in school, we always had an afternoon nap on our own little mats. Marilyn (Leach) Rantall.
- Winning the school-girl championship at our inter-school sports two years in a row then losing the third year and winning the fourth. The lovely food we all shared from our homes on break-up day. Hope (Wilson) Wilson.
- Going on school camps. Sovereign Hill camp learning to do things without power and dressing up, even panning for gold. Sarah Millard.
- My teachers, Mrs Moorfield, Mick Merrett and Mrs Darcy helped me so much in learning. Sport was my passion and our yearly sports' day at the footy ground are fond memories. Now my daughter is a pupil at 864. Anthony Osborne.

SAFETY HOUSE COBDEN

by Pam Savage

"A concept worth bottling!"

Safety House Victoria has helped keep Victoria safe since 1979 through its network of safety houses.

Across the state, there are 8000 safety houses identified by the iconic yellow triangles that both children and senior Victorians can turn to when they feel unsafe or need urgent assistance.

Safety houses are screened and supported by about 120 local volunteer committees. An incorporated association, Safety House Victoria enjoys the support of hundreds of volunteers, sponsors, supporters and donors.

The organisation also promotes safety and safe behaviour through local school education programs and publications.

At Cobden we have a very strong hard-working committee and monitors, who work under the guidance of monitoring coordinator Fred Wheaton. We are fortunate to have 33 safety houses in Cobden – we are very grateful to the residents for offering their homes to the cause.

If anyone would like to register their home as a safety house or join our committee, you will be most welcome. Simply get in touch with our president Pam Savage (5595 1565), secretary Trish Corner (5595 1593) or monitoring coordinator Fred Wheaton (5595 1272).

The administration of Safety House Victoria and Neighbourhood Watch is about to merge under the control of a state manager. But there will be no difference out in the field. Both organisations will remain as separate identities. The merger at the state administrative level is a cost saving measure.

Victoria is the birthplace of safety houses in Australia. With all our support, Safety House Victoria and Safety House Cobden can keep us safe for years to come.

Monitoring coordinator Fred Wheaton and president Pam Savage

HISTORY IN THE MAKING - EIGHT PAGES!

CONNECTING COBDEN

Welcome to our first eight-page Connecting Cobden.

We thought we would try a king-size CC for a couple of reasons – one, we were falling behind our schedule and felt we needed to include a few extra organisations in this issue. Well, that didn't work because we're still a couple behind. We found it's a bit like freeways – the more roads you make, the more cars you find to fill them. It's the same with newsletter space – the more pages you have, the more stuff you find to fill them.

The second reason for a bumper CC is we wanted to "test the water". This is Connecting Cobden No. 8 which means just three more editions out of our Twenty20 Vision funding. What happens then? We need to know what you think? What do you want?

You will notice there are three "advertisements" in this edition – one, a recruiting campaign for Progressing Cobden and the other two inform you about an overseas trip and a Uniting Church UCAF fundraiser and their Op Shop. We did plan to run another couple of paid notices but, ironically, there was not enough space! We will need to sell advertising space in the next three editions to make up the leeway in costs between a normal four page CC and this eight-page boomer. While we are staying away from corporate-style advertising at this stage, if our clubs, organisations and groups want to buy some "special space" over the next three issues, we are happy to provide it for you – at a "special price". Please speak to us about it.

Obviously, much volunteer time and energy goes into the production of Connecting Cobden – and that's with organisations providing most of the information! Do you think we can justify running a voluntary community newsletter beside the well-established Cobden Timboon Coast Times? Again, how could we make it work?

As it stands, it costs nearly $800 to produce a four-page CC. That's for printing alone. The figure does not account for private computer and camera use, South West Local Learning and Employment office resources, fuel and other costs incurred by volunteers. Then, there's the investment of time.

So there is much to think about. Feedback to kelvin@swllen.net.au, barbaracowley@bigpond.com or any Progressing Cobden member would be appreciated so we can plan for the future... if it's deemed that Connecting Cobden has a future.

HOW THE ROTARY CLUB OF COBDEN SUPPORTS THE LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY

Most people know that Rotary International is a service organisation and that a principal activity of the local Rotary Club is to support the local community as well as the wider, international community.

What may not be as well understood is how much is done by the local club. The following information may provide people with a better understanding of the contribution of our Rotary Club of Cobden during the last 12 months.

Local Community	Regional Community	National Programs	International Projects
Smoke Detector Battery	Rotary House in W'bool	Australian Rotary Health Research	Cambodia Orphans
Changeover Program			Shelterboxes
Seats around Cobden	$200	$1000	International Youth Exchange
Youth Awards in schools	$200		Polio Plus Program
Literacy Projects in schools	$800		Rotary International Programs
Student welfare in schools	$360
Community Christmas hampers	$500
Relay for Life	$539
Cobden Men's Shed	$200
Good Friday RCH Appeal	$1000
	$500
	$365

These items total over $14,300 and this represents the bulk of the direct financial contributions made to various worthwhile recipients or programs during the year.

However, the time spent by Rotarians in fund-raising, running activities such as New Year's Eve or food sales at the Cobden Markets, physically carrying out some of our community projects, or in organising events like the Annual Cobden Rotary/Community Bank business awards is also substantial and represents another $25,000-30,000 of voluntary effort.

Rotarians are ordinary members of the community who want to serve the community through voluntary effort. Whilst our Club is relatively strong, having 20 active members at the present time, we are always looking for people with a similar desire for service to join us – either as members or as "Friends of Rotary". You can speak to our current president Garry Ross or our soon-to-be president Ronnie Reissenweber if you would like to find out more.

WE WOULD LOVE TO HEAR FROM YOU (AND A FRIEND OR TWO)

Progressing Cobden has a dedicated group of community and business members, some of whom are involved in more than one sub-committee, action group or project team. Yes, we probably have taken on more than we can handle - but we believe we are still having a few good wins!

If you have a small amount of time and would like to help in some way, please consider joining one of the groups listed below. You don't need any particular expertise, you can be school-age, you can be older, you can be a newcomer to town, you don't have to live in the town . . . all you need is an interest in making Cobden and district an even better place in which to live and work.

WORKING GROUPS FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

- Progressing Cobden – meets at 7.30 pm on first Monday evening of every month – Heytesbury Room (Civic Hall).
- CopRice Spring Festival committee – Cobden's big weekend takes place on October 19th – 21st. Sunshine assured this year.
- Lake Cobden project team – our jewel in the crown is attracting more and more visitors.
- Pioneer Dairy Park committee – if you're interested in history, this is for you. Thanks to Fonterra, new signage is on the way.
- Christmas Celebration committee – Santa, BBQ, entertainment for all ages. Retailers' raffle. Sponsored by Community Bank.
- Twenty20 Vision action groups:
 - Town Appearance and Tourism – streetscapes, town entrances, tourism projects eg Cobden Story, our website, brochures.
 - Economic Sustainability, Education and Training – keeping our businesses viable, broadening training opportunities and ensuring our young people have the option of staying or, at least, returning to the area.
 - Infrastructure – roads, footpaths, lighting, parks, industrial estate . . .
 - Facilities and Services – maximising health services, police presence . . .
 - Organisations and Volunteers – Connecting Cobden newsletter, district club support, hosting combined service clubs' dinner on June 15th.

If you are interested, simply contact Frank Martin at Cobden Home Timber and Hardware (5595 1103), Jo Beard (5595 1951), Milton Parlour at Falk & Co Real Estate (5595 2302), David Buckle at Hampden Veterinary Clinic (5595 1100), Janet van Leerdam (5595 1129) or Kelvin White at the South West LLEN office (5595 1700) or turn up to a monthly Progressing Cobden meeting where you can register your interest. You can also use the email address: kelvin@swllen.net.au.

Remember, involvement in just one of these groups will be much appreciated.

HAMPDEN SPECIALIST SCHOOL

‘The Best of Both Worlds in Special Education’

by Principal Pam Coolahan

Hampden Specialist School is a unique school providing special education for primary and secondary school-age students with mild to severe intellectual and other disabilities.

The school’s distinguishing feature that also makes it different to other special schools is its base-room style of education delivery. In keeping with this style of operation, each campus is located alongside same-age regular schools.

The school motto ‘The Best of Both Worlds in Special Education’ is derived from this practice that underpins all aspects of the school. The P - 4 campus with 20 students, is located next to Terang College P - 4 campus and the Middle Years (5 - 8) and Later Years (9 - 12) campus, with a total of 39 students, is located on the grounds of Cobden Technical School. The combined enrolment in 2012 is 59.

The school catchment area is very broad. Four buses service Derrinallum and Mortlake in the north, Garvoc and Nullawarre to the west, Timboon and Port Campbell to the south and South Purrumbete to the east and all areas in between. Neighbouring specialist schools are located at Warrnambool, Colac and Hamilton.

Through the base-room style of curriculum delivery, the objective is to extend the range of educational and social options available to the students who attend Hampden Specialist School. It is also to enable Hampden Specialist School students and those with disabilities enrolled in host schools to experience success within regular school environments which otherwise would not have been attainable.

These objectives are pursued within a context of respecting and valuing the aims of neighbouring and host schools, and maintaining optimum levels of dignity for students with disabilities in these schools. We are very fortunate to have host schools that recognize and support our goals. The contribution of these schools cannot be overstated. It is what makes our school.

School curriculum is derived from VELS which is the same framework used in mainstream schools. Our philosophy is that our students need to be connected to mainstream in every way possible and thus need to have the same learning and social experiences whenever they can.

Later Years students engage in work experience at Year 10, VCAL is accessed through Cobden Technical School and TAFE programs are also a feature of some Later Years students learning package. Camps, 18th birthday celebrations and valedictory dinners are much-anticipated aspects of the annual calendar at relevant levels within the school and the end-of-year presentation of awards ceremony is an event that is well-supported by a number of service clubs in Cobden and Terang.

The awards presented by Cobden Rotary, Progressing Cobden and Cobden Quota International provide great incentive to students at all levels within the school to do their best. Terang Rotary makes an equally-valued contribution. In 2008 the school hosted its first presentation ball.

School captains in 2012 are Drew Semmens and Jemma Brandrup. Campus captains at Terang are Lewis Stone and Maddison Benson. The school leadership team consists of Pam Coolahan as principal and leading teachers Annette Sedgley (Later Years coordinator and 2IC), Olivia Sheldon (Middle Years coordinator) and Kylie Carter (P - 4 coordinator).

There are nine teaching staff, most with special education qualifications and Jill Savage is office manager. Teacher assistants, physiotherapists, speech pathologists and occupational therapists complete the service.

The school had an $850,000 upgrade early in 2011 under the Building the Education Revolution Program. This has created new spacious open plan learning areas at the 5-12 campus that are conducive to our preferred team-style of teaching. Because of the high-interest hands-on style of approach, inquiry learning at the 5-12 level and developmental curriculum are also valued features of the school curriculum.

Our phone number is 5595 1995.

LET'S SUPPORT OUR SPONSORS BECAUSE THEY SUPPORT US!

Progressing Cobden Inc A0033175Y

About twelve months ago, some local business people approached Progressing Cobden and asked us to encourage the community to support those who provided sponsorship for our clubs and organisations.

It seemed a very reasonable request so a period of consultation and negotiation saw the development of a sponsorship policy. The application form (see example, right) can easily be used when your organisation is making a formal approach to any potential sponsor.

If you would like a copy sent to you electronically or in hard copy, please email: kelvin@swllen.net.au or ring 5595 1700.

COBDEN AND DISTRICT SPONSORSHIP CODE 2011

Aim: To develop a spirit of co-operation and understanding between Cobden’s business people and the district’s organisations and groups in the important area of sponsorship.

• It is generally accepted that sponsorship benefits all parties – some type of sponsorship makes it easier for an organisation to survive and flourish while a sponsor can reasonably expect to receive some custom from that group and its members or, at least, be acknowledged in a manner that will help to promote the sponsor’s business.

• It is also generally accepted that the whole Cobden and district community will enjoy short term and long term economic benefits if everyone does their best to shop locally. A strong business community will mean more goods and services available within the area. Retailers and tradespeople would like to be given the opportunity to meet your needs.

Therefore, to encourage a win-win situation for all concerned.

All businesses will have a standard application form to be completed by organisations seeking sponsorship. It will be accompanied by a copy of the Cobden and District Sponsorship Code.

Where possible, applications for sponsorship should be submitted personally, by a representative of the organisation so any aspects of the application can be clarified.

The sponsorship application form should be attended to (and responded to) within a month of formally receiving it. Refusal should not offend.

Organisations will be asked to explain as precisely as possible how any sponsorship will be used.

Organisations will be asked to explain how the sponsor is to be supported or acknowledged during the period of sponsorship.

Organisations are encouraged to spread the load as much as possible – to resist the tendency to go back to the same businesses every year. Perhaps consider a bi-annual approach to a wider cross-section of businesses? Consider approaching the farming community and professionals as well as retailers and tradespeople.

Organisations should be prepared to explain what the sponsorship is to be used for, and how the group has helped itself over the past twelve months.

BABY BOMBERS TAKE OFF

Cobden Junior Football Netball Club, the junior partner of the Cobden Football Netball Club, caters for the 12 and under and 14 and under netballers and the under 12, 14 and 16 footballers.

Our major activities are coaching and playing football and netball with training on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and game day, usually, on Sundays. Our home ground is the home of the Bombers, Cobden Recreation Reserve.

NETBALL (by Tanya Davis)

In 2009, Hampden Football Netball League's Junior Committee believed there was a need for junior netball to be introduced on a Sunday while the football was being played.

This gave a wonderful opportunity for many more girls to play netball who were not currently involved in Saturday competition. Two age-groups were introduced – 14 and under competition and an unofficial 12 and under game.

The overall aim was firstly to encourage and promote netball at an early age. By developing and improving their ability, the future of netball is more promising.

The main focus of 12 and under games is on having fun while working on skill development, ensuring all players gain experience on all areas of the court by rotating players throughout the season. Both the 14 and under and the 12 and under grades attempt to promote good sportsmanship, positive relationship with teammates and giving all players, including subs, a fair and reasonable time on the court.

In 2010, Cobden 14 and under netballers proudly won the premiership. Great excitement in the club as our younger 12 and under players were curtain-raisers to this game.

Each Sunday it is wonderful to be involved in such a positive and supportive environment as a large crowd gathers around the netball court. This year we currently have nine 14 and under players, jointly coached by Tracy Hickey and Veronica Hickey. We have an amazing eighteen girls in the 12 and under game, coached by Janelle Smith, assisted by Bernadette Hickey.

In order to facilitate even court time, most weeks this age-group play extra quarters or play two x 12 and under games at the same time. Training is every Thursday night at 3.45pm to 5pm. On game day the 12 and under netballers play at 11am, with 14 and under competition played at 12 noon.

All Cobden junior netballers must pay an annual fee to Netball Victoria (VNA) for insurance purposes and also a small membership fee to Cobden Junior Football Netball Club.

Junior football and netball relies heavily on parents and volunteers help. The Cobden club is very fortunate to have very eager, willing and capable helpers who take on the many roles including goal umpiring, timekeeping, gate keeping, working in the canteen, netball-scoring and, of course, being a supportive member in the crowd.

A huge thank you to the coaches, umpires and officials who do a fantastic effort each week.

Any enquiries please contact Tanya Davis, Cobden Junior Netball Co-ordinator, on 0439 952 074.

FOOTBALL (by Sue Stevens)

The club was established in 1958 as part of the Camperdown and District League. Teams involved then were Purrumbete, Bookaar, Camperdown, Noorat and Cobden. Terang and Colac came on board the next year. The foundation members for the club were president Ted "Porky" Howard, Jim Hammond and Harold Lamb (all deceased)

Cobden's first coach was Brian Brown. The club won a premiership in 1969 under coach Frank Walsh and again in 1972 under "Wiggy" Smith. A premiership in 1985 was followed by another in 1988 when we were coached by Robbie Howarth and Greg "Herbie" Merrett.

At some stage the leagues changed around and Cobden played in the Mt Noorat League but no-one is quite sure when this happened. It is about five years ago that the Hampden juniors started.

Currently, we have about 60 young footballers. Competition is open to any player between the ages of 10 and 16. Girls are most welcome until the age of 14 and, now, a girls' competition is starting so the girls can continue. Netball ages range from 10 to 14 years and they can play under 13s and 15s on Saturdays.

Significant players who have come through the junior system include David Rhodes who played with Fitzroy, Sydney Swan Gary Rohan and Essendon Bomber Jackson Merrett. The under 14s have played in the last two grand finals but lost.

This year was wonderful for club representation at a higher level. We had eight boys playing for Hampden in the under 15 V-Line Cup schoolboys' competition - Paul Pekin, Louis Robertson, Jack Hutt, Jake Reed, Nick Kemp, Nathan Stevens, Dominic Dare and Nathan Gronbeck.

They played in April in Melbourne and now Paul and Dominic are in the squad for Vic Country selection. Four boys formerly from the juniors are in the Falcons squad - Mick Salmon, Brendan Richardson, Daniel Watson and Sam Cunnington.

Our 2012 football coaches are Grant Smith and Marty Darcy (under 12s), Tim McGlade (under 14s) and Anthony Reed and Tim Horan (under 16s).

Current office-bearers include president Paul Hickey, secretary Sue Stevens and treasurer Cherine Benallack. Paul was a premiership player in the 1988 under 16 team.
